FUNERAL OF A DRUID

STRANGE DEATH RITES ON A LOFTY
HILLTOP IN WALES.

Impressive Ceremonies Attending the Final
Disposition of the Body of the Late
Leader of the Druids of Wales—Rather Mixed Services.

Far away seem the times and the rites of the Druids; even under the mistletoe at yuletide—the time of Ywelling. There was one of the most ancient and primitive of religions, and its cult is greatly shrouded in mystery. Yet it is not altogether dead. Among the hills of Wales many strange relics of the past remain. There may be no "fragments of forgotten peoples," but there are legends and customs and songs and social and religious rites preserved unchanged from the days of Arthur and Merlin and Taliesin. There are probably not a few seers who, like Glendower, "can summon spirits from the vasty deep," though whether or not they will come is yet a mooted question. And as for the Druids, their line is yet unbroken, and their weird rites are still celebrated as of old.

The death occurred at Llantrisant of Dr. William Price, who held the distinguished office of archdruid of Wales. He was something more than 98 years old and might have passed for one of the old time bards who perished in King Edward's reign, so rugged and antique was his appearance. Six or seven years ago, it may be remembered, an infant that had been born to him in his old age died, and his body was publicly cremated by him with Druidical rites. For this he was arrested and brought to trial. But after a hot contest in court he was acquitted, and a decree was pronounced from the bench establishing the entire legality of this form of funeral. Accordingly when Dr. Price himself died a similar ceremony was enacted without thought of interference.

The ceremony took place on the summit of a high hill at Caerlan, the very spot where the body of the infant had been burned. Several hundred tickets were issued to the friends and former patients of Dr. Price, entitling them to enter the inclosure and witness the burning. The hour first set was noon. But public curiosity rose to so high a pitch that, to avoid being overwhelmed by a mob of sightseers, it was at the last moment decided to change it to 7 o'clock in the morning. So in the gray light of that early hour the strange procession made its way to the hilltop. No morning garb was to be seen. The closest friends of the deceased Druid were attired in the ancient costumes of the Welsh people.

The body of Dr. Price was clothed in the Druidical robes he had worn in life and was then placed in a coffin of perforated sheet iron. On the hilltop two stone walls had been built, four feet apart, each being about 10 feet long and 4 feet high. A number of iron bars extending from one to the other formed a rude grating between them, some distance above the ground, and upon these bars the coffin was placed, the head being toward the east and the feet toward the west.

A clergyman of the Established church was present and read the ordinary service for the dead in Welsh. The vestments of the church contrasted as strangely with the Druidical garb worn by some of the attendants as did the words of the prayer book with the strange rites. Some slight changes were made in the service, such as the body being "consigned to the flames."

Then under and over and all around the coffin was piled a great lot of wood, perhaps a whole cord of it, and to this were added several tons of coal. Many gallons of paraffin oil were thrown upon it, thoroughly saturating the entire pile. Then, at about 8 o'clock, two of the closest friends of the late Druid came forward from the throng and applied torches to the wood, one at each end of the mass. In a moment it was all a raging furnace, and the hill literally flared like a volcano.

A brisk breeze was blowing, which fanned the fire and carried the flame and smoke far into the heavens. For many miles the strange spectacle was clearly seen, and thousands of people came flocking thither from all parts of Glamorganshire. Seven or eight thousand of them gathered in a ring about the pyre, as close to it as possible, and watched it with eager interest all day long.

Some hours after dark that evening the flames had died down, and there was only a dull glow from the coals. Then with long hooks they dragged the coffin from the furnace, when it was discovered that it had been literally burned through in many places, and when the lid was uncovered the receptacle was absolutely empty without the faintest trace within of the remains. The coffin was subsequently conveyed on a bier, followed by an immense crowd, and deposited on the couch in the deceased's residence, where a few days previously he had breathed his last.—New York Tribune.

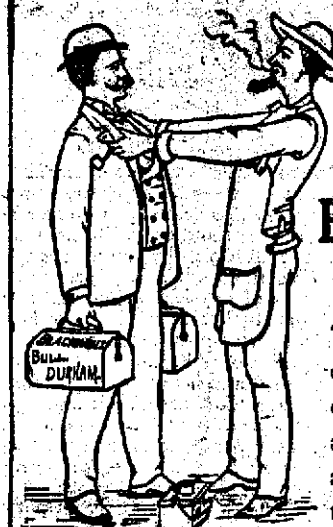

Two Wealthy Girls With No Taste.

Two girls sat awhile ago in opposite stage boxes at the theater to whose united wealth the world inconceivable would almost literally apply. Both were faintly pretty, of the style that is absolutely null without proper dressing. One, the most decided type of blond, wore pale blue. The result was simply flat. The other girl is a brunette and was dressed in a brown silk (which is the ugliest and most characterless wear the mind of man can devise, except in combination), and had a wisp of blondest tied tightly around her neck.—New York Letter.

INCALLS ON THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls of Kansas has an article in the Denver News in which he discusses some of the problems which congress will have to solve. Among these are the financial and tariff questions. Mr. Ingalls is forcible and logical and, since the expiration of his senatorial term, independent, and his remarks always command attention. He says:

"Silver in its relations to the fiscal system of the country is either a money metal or it is a commodity. If the former, then it is entitled to free admission to the mints, at the option of the owner, upon terms that will make a silver dollar as nearly as possible intrinsically equal to the gold dollar."

"If it is a commodity, then there is no more reason why the government should purchase and store it, and issue certificates upon it to circulate as money, than there is why it should purchase wheat, pork, or sourkraut, or dried apples, and issue certificates upon them to circulate as money. The principle is identical in either case. Since 1878 we have been buying silver on a steadily declining market, and coining or certifying it at an artificial and arbitrary value, largely in excess of its price."

"When the original act was passed it was predicted that the coinage of $75,000,000 would put gold at a premium, but we have reached the stupendous aggregate of $500,000,000 without disaster. The capacity of the United States for absorption was under estimated, but no one doubts that it has a limit. The export of gold and the approaching exhaustion of the treasury are symptoms that cannot be disregarded. Sooner or later a financial crash is inevitable."

"Panic have their periodicity, 1837, 1857, 1873 were years memorable for calamity. Another calamity is due. Conservative and cautious business men are preparing for it already. There are indications that it is not afar off, and when it arrives it will require a seismometer to measure its effects. The owners of mines and producers of bullion have a purely selfish interest in the continuance of this policy, as it makes a sure market for their merchandise, and those who are in debt favor it because it offers a cheap method of extrication."

"The party in power in congress is committed by the most positive, unconditional and unqualified declarations against a protective tariff, as dishonest in practice and unconstitutional in theory."

"It is bound in honor and good faith to redeem its pledges and give the country fair trial of free trade, or a tariff for revenue only. This was the voice of the majority. The people are entitled to a decree upon their verdict."

"For half a century the nation has experienced the results of the policy of protection. Its enemies allege that our growth in wealth and population was in spite of it and not on account of it, that with free trade our progress would have been greater and our burdens diminished. They may be right. They have a power to prove that they are. They can give the generation an object lesson in wages, prices and markets. For fifty years we have had one side only. We have had arguments, essays, comparative tables, speeches, etc., and denunciations. Now, let us have facts. The barriers have been removed. There are no obstacles. There is no hostile senate on which to lay the blame of failure. The executive and legislative departments are in accord, and if they neglect the opportunity and omit to try the experiment history must declare that they were dishonest, insincere or embezzle. But there are as many Democrats interested in manufactures and protected industries as Republicans, and already indications appear of a purpose to falter and juggle, to interpret the platform in a double sense, and not even keep the word of promise to the ear."

TO TEST THE GEARY ACT.

The constitutionality of the Geary act, which requires Chinese to register, is to be passed upon by the supreme court at an adjourned session in May. The Chinese legation is anxious to have the question of registration settled without delay, but the court is not to be kept in session longer than is absolutely unnecessary. The act goes into effect on the 5th of May, and an arrest of a Chinaman who has not complied with its requirements will be made at once, and habeas corpus proceedings commenced. The case will be promptly decided and carried to the supreme court, which it is thought will give it precedence on account of its importance.

The Six Companies, which control to a great extent all the Chinese in the United States, advise them to ignore the Geary act. This advice is followed, save by a few Chinese, who have been in the country a long time and prefer to comply with the law, which under the new regulation of the treasury department involves no expense whatever, as the placard clause has been revoked, to running the risk of being arrested. The Six Companies employ able counsel, who, it is supposed, direct them to advise their countrymen not to register under the Geary act. A strict enforcement of the law would effectively prevent Chinese from leaving the exclusion act, as every one not having a certificate of registration would be deported. This would ruin the business of the Six Companies, hence their opposition to the law.

Unless orders to the contrary are issued from Washington it will be the duty of internal revenue collectors and United States marshals to arrest every Chinese, except those engaged in mercantile pursuits, who has not a certificate of registration, after the 5th of next month.

ALLEN-TURNER FIGHT.

Apparently Good Fighting - Allen Knocked Out.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.
CARSON, April 12.—The boxing entertainment at Carson came off according to the program, a good crowd being in attendance.

Abe Meyers of Virginia and Billy Armstrong of San Francisco opened the entertainment with a four-round go, and were followed by Dan Hascall of San Francisco and Jack Ramsey of Portland (colored) in a six-round bout. Immediately after this contest the event of the evening, a finish fight between Turner and Allen for $1,000 a side and 65 per cent of the gate receipts took place. The men came into the ring shortly before 11 o'clock.

Time was called and both men responded promptly for the first round. First round—Honors easy. Both men fighting hard.

Second—Allen rushed his man and knocked him down twice. Heavy fighting. Allen had the best of the round all through.

Third—The men were more cautious. Allen was knocked down and nearly out, but was up and fighting at the call of time. The men clinched, the negro reaching for Allen's wind. Both men fresh.

Fourth—Turner landed on Allen's face. There was heavy in-fighting and honors were easy.

Fifth—The negro was knocked down. Allen rushed the fight and landed well. Allen had the best of the round.

Sixth—There was rough fighting, although the round was a stand-off. Both men were willing and game.

Seventh—The men closed and Turner clinching his man threw him heavily and fell on him. Allen's head struck the floor and the blow so stunned him that he was knocked senseless and the referee gave Turner the fight.

Allen had the best of the fight to this point. The fight up to the time of the accident was hard and vicious, and on the dead level, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

National Money Matters.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Star has this: "It is rumored on the stock exchange in New York to-day that $7,000,000 in gold will be shipped next Saturday or Tuesday. Should half this amount be shipped it will be necessary for the secretary of the treasury to utilize a small part of the $100,000,000 gold reserve. Secretary Carlisle will not hesitate to dip into the gold reserve if it is necessary, but should he be called upon to do so it is thought the banks will immediately come to the rescue of the department."

"The action of Secretary Carlisle in refusing to purchase the Bowling Green site, New York City, for a custom house, and in declining to accept Chestnut street in Philadelphia for a United States mint is taken as an indication that his policy in regard to the erection of public buildings will be to defer entering upon any costly public works in the present condition of the treasury."

"It is generally believed that Colonel Lamont, who, as secretary of the treasury, will have charge of the river and harbor expenditures, will follow on this same line of action. Between the two departments the payment of sums aggregating between $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year can be easily deferred without hampering the public service until the treasury surplus begins to grow again."

A Big Seizure.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, April 12.—In an old ramshackled building in Brooklyn, which has been tenanted since the last occupant committed suicide five years ago, an internal office to-day captured one of the largest and best equipped illicit distilleries that has fallen into the hands of the government for years. Suspicion was aroused by neighbors observing smoke issuing from a chimney, and also that half a dozen or more swarthy-visaged men were observed to enter and leave the building at given hours. The talk of the neighbors eventually found its way to the internal revenue headquarters, and to-day the officers descended upon the mysterious house. The doors were forced open one by one, but this gave the moonshiners time to escape. The apparatus was left in full operation. About 3,000 gallons of high wines was in the casks. The still was of modern make, with a capacity of 150 gallons. Thirty empty casks, 2,000 gallons of mash steeping in the high tub and some minor paraphernalia was seized.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Senate to-day confirmed the appointment of Louis C. Hughes as governor of Arizona Territory.

Objects to Teaching Catholicism.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.

SACRAMENTO, April 12.—Chief Miguel of the Yuma tribe of Indians accompanied by an interpreter, a member of the tribe, arrived to-day to see Governor Markham relative to a matter which appears to be agitating the chief very much. The object of the chief's mission to the capital, said the interpreter to a reporter, "is to have the governor intercede in his behalf in relation to the government school for Indian children at Yuma. This school, which is in charge of the sisters of St. Joseph, is attended by over 100 Indian children. The chief says he is opposed to the manner in which the sisters have been conducting the school and that he is not in favor of the children being taught the Catholic religion. His story is that the sisters have threatened to have him deposed as chief unless he ceased complaining. He declares he will appeal to the Indian commissioner at Washington to change the school management."

As the governor is out of the city the chief related his troubles to Secretary of State Wait.

A Heavy Failure.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.

LONDON, April 12.—The English, Scottish and Australian chartered bank has failed with liabilities amounting, it is said, to £8,000,000, or $40,000,000. No estimate of assets has yet been made, but they are supposed to be large. The suspended bank has main branches at Sydney, Adelaide, Brisbane and Melbourne and at various lesser points in the colonies of New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia. It was transacting a banking and exchange business between Great Britain and the Australian colonies and had large deposits. The failure has added to the anxiety and consternation which previous recent failures of financial institutions with Australian connections have caused. The only reason given for the failure is that there has been for several weeks a steady increase of withdrawal of deposits.

Ambassador Received.

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—M. Patenotre, diplomatic representative of the French republic in Washington, was received in his new capacity by the president this afternoon. M. Patenotre presented his credentials as ambassador and made a speech expressing the cordial feelings of the French government toward that of the United States, to which Mr. Cleveland replied in similar terms.

NEW DEPARTURE IN DENTISTRY!

DR. PORTER HAS RETURNED for the purpose of advertising the

"Hale Method of Painless Filling."

Absolutely painless without Chloroform, Gas, Ether or Cocaine.

OFFICE IN STEELE BUILDING,

COMMERCIAL ROW, RENO.

Here are a Few Testimonials from Citizens Who have Already Tried the Method:

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—It affords me pleasure to say that the Hale method of painless filling opens a new era in the dental world. After having several very sensitive cavities filled by you with gold and amalgam with gratifying results, I am of the opinion that the method is far beyond all competition.

PATRICK HENRY.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—In answer to your request for my candid opinion as to the Hale method of painless filling, I beg to state that I went to one of Dr. Look's finest operators in San Francisco, and he filled several teeth for me with more or less pain; but when he came to the one you have just filled, it was simply impossible for me to endure the torture, consequently I asked him to stop, which he did. I thought I would be obliged to have the tooth extracted. I wish to state that in five minutes after you commenced to operate there was positively no pain; it felt just as if you were cutting a piece of wood. I am so highly pleased with the manner in which you filled the tooth that I feel it but just to express my appreciation of the method. It is all you claim for it.

CHARLES HOPE.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—I have had teeth extracted before by so-called painless methods, but you are the only operator who has extracted teeth for me without pain. Your method of extracting surpasses my most sanguine expectations.

MRS. H. PRENTISS.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—It gives me great pleasure to state that I am thoroughly convinced of the excellence of your method. I expected to suffer dreadfully having the cavity filled, as it was the worst one I had to have done. In about five minutes after you began to work on it I was satisfied that it would not hurt, which it did not during the entire operation. The tooth you extracted is one I have been dreading for eight years, and after consulting dentists in Sacramento, who advised me not to have it removed, as the ordeal might prove injurious to my health and also disfigure my face. You extracted the tooth without a particle of pain, and I will have no further dread of the dental chair, providing I can obtain the Hale Method.

MARY E. FLECKENSTEIN.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—After using Hale's Painless Method as administered by you in the extraction of teeth, I can bear testimony that the results are satisfactory, and that teeth can be extracted painlessly by said method.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY J. NEYLAND.

Dr. Porter—DEAR SIR:—I believe that the Hale Painless Method of filling is destined to lead the world in its special field of usefulness. I am particularly impressed with it, owing to the fact that one does not lose consciousness while having teeth filled, and at the same time does not suffer a particle of pain. You are at liberty to refer any one who contemplates having sensitive teeth filled to me.

JOHN SEBERT.
